What is SPA?

SPA is known as "Health from Water" by combining the Latin words (Salus per Aquam) Salus: Health and Aqua: Water. SPA can generally be defined as gaining health, fitness, aesthetics and beauty, healing with water and its healing power. SPA's can be defined as a contemporary form of our bath culture, which started with the Roman Bath in the Romans in our country and became a part of our culture with the Turkish Bath in the Ottoman Empire and is known all over the world, where many procedures related to health and beauty are applied by experts.

We will be happy to serve you with the professional team of Thermal SPA Center during your stay. SPA is a section where the soul and body will find perfect harmony and will give you a feeling of peace and renewal, and with personalized care and programs, you will feel that you have been purified from the factors that wear you out in your life, your stress and worries, and started to live again. SPA will take you to a different world with its different concept, relaxing massage types, body treatments, healing thermal water and renewing skin care applications. You can benefit from thermal pools, saunas and steam baths during your stay.

The Magic Touch of Thermal Water and Mud

The most important feature that distinguishes the Hüdai Thermal Springs in Sandıkly, which is considered a sacred city by the Phrygians, where St. Michel treated his patients, and has been the subject of many legends, from other thermal springs is its mud baths, whose fame has spread all over the world. These miraculous mud baths boil in different parts of a geological crack that continues for 500 meters and reach a temperature of 68 degrees. It consists of a mixture of healing water and specially prepared soil. 2000 years old miraculous healing waters of Sandıklı We offer you Thermal Park Hotel quality and comfort.

Benefits of Our Mud and Thermal Water

Sciatica (sciatic nerve compression), tendinitis (inflammation of the skin), gynecological diseases (in chronic periods), polyneury (inflammation of more than one nerve), hemiplegia (paralysis of a part of the body), periarthritis (joint membrane inflammation), arthrosis (joint calcification), rheumatism, cellulitis, rheumatoid arthritis (rheumatic fever diseases), spondylitis (calcification of the spine), intestinal diseases, neuritis (inflammation of the nerve ending), polio sequelae (polio sequelae), neuralgia (inflammation spreading along the nerve), paraplegia (paralysis of both lower legs) fracture and dislocation sequelae from accidents and surgeries, myalgia (muscle aches), mental fatigue, passing stones and sand in the kidneys, mud bath, inhalation (steam inhalation). is used.

Chemical Properties of Thermal Water

Sodium, calcium, sulfate and biocarbonate water groups are used. The positive energy coming from water gives you memories It will offer you the privilege of living and will improve your health while resting your soul.

Natural Mud Baths

Mud Baths create a deeper and stronger warming than water. Minerals such as sulfur and volcanic ash are found in mud. It heals mild aches and pains, increases blood circulation, relaxes muscles and also purifies the skin, making it soft and clean. Scientific research has also proven the following benefits of mud baths. Cell renewal: Since it is an antioxidant that increases collagen production, it slows down the aging process. Firming: It has firming effects as it revitalizes dead cells on the skin and opens the pores. Hormone balancer: It fights against the negative effects of the period called premenstrual syndrome and reduces menstrual difficulties with its hormone balancing effects. Natural anti-inflammatory: It eliminates muscle and bone problems caused by fatigue, overexertion or some diseases (arthritis, rheumatism). It helps strengthen the immune system.

It is a natural method that reduces stress. For this reason, it is very useful especially for athletes or people who do heavy work that requires effort.
